

FLAG DAY THEME OF AID SOCIETY MEET

Circle No. 10 of Epworth M. E. Church Entertains General Group.

Flag day was the theme of a meeting of Circle No. 10 of the Epworth M. E. church when that circle entertained the General Aid society yesterday afternoon.

"The History of Our Flag" was the subject of an interesting paper read by Mrs. S. L. Leeka. Mrs. Leeka also gave a recitation, "Our Flag."

The meeting opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful." Edwin Mesinger was in charge of devotionals, taking his text from the fourteenth chapter of the book of John.

Mrs. Elmer Schenckel led in prayer, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. After a short business meeting the program was given.

Gaza Class of Church Plans Annual Picnic

SYCAMORE, June 11.—The Gaza class of the Methodist Sunday school met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Orren Klatis near Sycamore, with Mrs. Ralph Bacon and Mrs. Myrtle Weininger as hosts.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ralph Bacon. Mrs. Calvin Frankenthal read the devotionals. A delicious lunch was served to 15 members and guests. It was decided to hold the annual picnic the third Thursday in July.

The Community club met Wednesday afternoon at the club house in Sycamore and enjoyed a potluck supper with 15 members and their families present. Arrangements were made to hold a social July 3 at the Drunquist club house.

Miss Southern Democracy Asks Divorce from Heflin on Grounds of Desertion and Neglect, Rogers Says

Charges He Stayed Out at Nights and Associated with Republicans.

BY WILL ROGERS

EVERY one in a while something shows up in a way of real humor, and its generally the something that most everybody else never heard of. In the case I am presenting to you it says in there that it was presented by a Mr. A. Beckwith, but anybody who ever is, let's get him out of credit, and maybe split his life by making a writer out of him. A Mr. T. W. Rogers of the Alabama House of Representatives, a clipping from the Birmingham Age Herald. The case is that it is a divorce and I want you to read it. Course they use Tom as the example but it really hitting at all the Hooverites.

I haven't heard much from Tom's race lately but I bet they have a long time cleaning him. Those town boys might be against him but when he pulls off his old alpaca and gets to illustrating the weakness of his opponents with those Negro stories (which he can tell like nobody else) why he will give em a tough battle. But let me repeat you this just as is.

The petition follows:

"Miss Southern Democracy complainant vs. Thomas J. Heflin, alias 'Cotton Tom' Heflin, alias 'Admiral Tom' Heflin, respondent, in the Circuit Court of Jefferson County, Alabama, tenth judicial circuit of Alabama, in equity. To the honorable William M. Walker Judge of said Court, Humbly complaining your complainant, Miss Southern Democracy, she prays your honor the following facts as a basis of complaint.

First, that your complainant is over the age of 21, and is a bona fide resident of the Sovereign State of Alabama since the year 1905. Your complainant retains her maiden name in this bill, for reasons well known to this court and the world at large.

"Second—that the respondent, Thomas J. Heflin, is over the age of 21, and though absent from the State a bona fide resident of the State.

Married in 1905.

"Third—that your complainant and respondent were married to each other in the fall of the year 1901, at Lafayette, Alabama, where the respondent was a lowly Cotton grower, and where your complainant through her aid and influence, first aided the respondent to the rank of Public Officer of this great State. Your complainant will in all fairness aver that until the time of the acts herein complained of the respondent was a model husband. That his courtship at Lafayette was swift and ardent, that down through the years respondent was loyal and true, and appreciative of helping hand of complainant, which in love bestowed upon him many high offices, finally the Tox of United States Senator. In November of the year 1920.

"Four—Your Complainant avers that she and the respondent lived together in holy blissful union until the husband of two tramps who stop at the ranch, and his devotion to Armita and Lilel is something to see. Armita and her father leave the ranch for a nearby city, and meet McCullough, who induces Don Jose to ride back to the ranch with the trucks, acting as a guide, but unknowingly to turn aside suspicion.

DATE gets on the trail of the smugglers, but is overpowered, tied to a truck and started toward a cliff. Rinty grabs the situation, races the truck, leaps on it and saves Dave. Dave, Pepita and Rinty are attacked by the smugglers, and Rinty battles with Farrell. The border patrolmen arrive and Dave is revealed as their captain. Lilel, out of Rinty, Armita and Lilel, all happy again.

Officers Named for Year by Caledonia Aid Society

CALEDONIA, June 11.—The Ladies' Aid society of the Church of Christ held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Lillie Stiel, Thursday. Aside from the business session the day was spent quilting. At noon a picnic dinner was enjoyed by 30 persons present. Invited guests included Mrs. Emma Ray, Mrs. Clarence Ray, Mrs. Marion Ray, Mrs. Pearl Ward, Mrs. Mary Snyder, Mrs. Edward Koch, Mrs. John Krause, Rebecca Chrysler, Lois, Lisa and Dean Longacre, Anna Jane Winters, Junior Winters, Gerald and Vernon Boret and George Steel.

One new member was added to the roll. The following officers were elected for the year, President Mrs. Sadie Hill; vice president, Mrs. Emma Brocklesley; secretary, Mrs. Rena Likens; treasurer, Nellie Winters.

Arrangements were made for an ice-cream social to be held on the square Saturday night, June 28. Mrs. Edward Longacre will entertain the society at her home in Marion the second Thursday in July.

BUILDING PERMITS

Permits to erect buildings to cost $2,100 were issued by City Clerk Sylvester Larkin this week, his records show. The largest permit was for $1,000, to remodel a store, while the smallest was for a $50 shed. Other permits were for $200 to remodel a store, $500 to remodel a filling station, and $150 for a temporary office.

Rin-Tin-Tin in Talkie at Marion

WHEN a tramp not a tramp? When he's a member of the border patrol in search of men who bootleg Chinese into the U. S. A.

The title of Rin-Tin-Tin in "On the Border" doesn't sound for good show material, but things got to moving so fast and furious last night at the Marion that one woman in the audience screamed aloud for fear the hero would be dashed over the cliff.

This little Armita can play in all the pictures we go to see. John B. Lilel plays Dave, the tramp who in the end is the captain of the border patrol and Philo McCullough plays Farrell, the head of the ring that smuggles the heathen Chinese into the country.

Armita and her father, Bruce Conington, live on a ranch which McCullough decides will be an ideal stopping place for his underworld business. Don Jose is poor, and McCullough closes the deal. In the meantime the border police have spotted the smuggling gang, and already there has been an exchange of shots and several on each side have been killed.

Rinty becomes attached to Lilel.

Your complainant avers that she was ever faithful and true and brought to respondent blessings never before reaped by any man. That she gave to him the best years of her life, and now she has grown frail and weak and cannot support herself, and that but for friends would have long ago been forced to spend her years in want and poverty. Furthermore complainant avers that respondent is in poor health, strong, and well able to work, and complainant being without relief except in a Court of Equity, and prays that your Honor will ratify him to plead answer, to this bill, within the time and manner required, and shall pay to Complainant such a sum as will be necessary for her support and maintenance, in accordance with her future support.

Sweet Corn, Watermelons New Arrivals on Market

Arrival of first roasting ears at 75 cents a dozen and a promise of watermelons early next week at prices ranging from $1 to $1.50 were the two outstanding developments in Marion retail market circles this week.

The ears are far too high in price for popular sale, but growers reported little difficulty in moving the limited supply they had on hand.

Watermelons were new at 20 cents a quart. Yellow wax beans were also new this week at 20 cents a pound, or two pounds for 35 cents.

Grapefruit gradually faded into the horizon this week, and will be gone from the markets for several weeks. They will be replaced by cantaloupes, which are now finding their way into markets at reasonable prices.

Big cucumbers, formerly grown in hot-houses to sell between 15 and 25 cents each, took a drop to find at a range of 5 to 15 cents each this week. The drop was explained by the arrival of first truck farm crops in the south.

Nursing Needs of Mr. Middleman.

The nursing needs of the man of limited means—the man between the rich and the poor—were discussed at the convention of the American Nurses' association in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this week, and it seemingly was the massed opinion of the delegates that, in sickness, his case was of all the most unfortunate.

The man of wealth is in position to secure all the nursing service he may need or desire. The poor man can get nursing from any one of the federated agencies which now exist in practically every community worthy the name, but Mr. Middleman, as one delegate referred to him, is not receiving the care and attention he should for the reason that he is unable to pay the six, seven or eight dollars a day which nurses charge, the amount varying usually according to the general living costs in the population center in which he resides. Mr. Middleman's case, the various speakers discussing it before the convention declared, is a problem which nurses must face and to which they must find the answer.

Sad to say, however, the best solution the gathering was able to offer was that the man of limited income should share the services of a nurse with other patients who do not need continuous care. Just how the sick man would locate such a nurse in a community in which there is not a nurses' bureau, or some such organization, apparently was not considered by the convention.

For lack of a better plan, the nurses might adopt that of the eminent physicians and surgeons who make the rich pay for the poor and graduate the charges for their services according to the means of those between the two extremes. This plan may be held impossible, yet the Mayos, the Orles, the Murphys, the eminent specialists of Johns Hopkins and others long ago demonstrated that it is not impossible in medicine and surgery.
Trained nursing is today a profession. If a thing is possible in professions to which nursing is subordinate—we were about to say "with which nursing is allied," but refrained for obvious reasons—why is it not possible in the profession of nursing?

Germany Favorably Impressed.

Berlin advises as to the effect that the awarding of over $71,000,000 by the United States war claims arbiter to German shipping interests for the vessels interned by them in our harbors at the beginning of the World war and later seized by our government has made a most favorable impression throughout Germany.

The aggregate of the various awards is not so large as to be a matter of vital moment to Germany, much less to this country, but the spirit which prompted our government thus to act is what has touched German hearts, press and public alike commending it highly. The Berlin press in editorial comment on the awards is especially gracious in its tribute to this country. A typical expression is that of the Deutsche Tagesschau, which, after commenting on the awards themselves, says: "Of greater significance is the fundamental attitude of the United States government toward private German property compared with that of England, which pursues the bolshevistic practice," and it offers the surmise that "evidently the Washington government does not desire to identify itself with such methods."

A particularly felicitous phase of the matter to the German people, and thus to the German government, is that between eighty-five and ninety per cent. of the awards will go to the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American lines, which have combined to restore German shipping to the high place it held upon the seas in pre-war times. The combined lines are making a splendid fight to regain the freight business they once handled, and they now, as the result of the combination, are offering transportation between New York and English Channel ports on the speediest, finest and most up-to-date liners afloat. As a result of the awards to the two lines, they will be able to pay off obligations which call for high rates of interest and thus greatly reduce the financial burden they are bearing, which necessarily will strengthen them and make them better able to meet the heavy competition by great, fast liners the next few years will develop.
In this way the awards will prove a veritable blessing to the shipping industry in which the Germans justly take great pride and upon which they look as a factor to restore them to the place in the sun they once held in the world's commerce.

Obviously the course this country pursued in compensating the German shipping interests for the vessels we took from them is that of right and justice, and that and that alone is what prompted it. At the same time, the future may show that the money awarded was well invested; if not in bringing us financial return, then in restoring the confidence of our one-time enemies in our spirit of honesty, fairness and justice.

Something will have to break, pretty soon, if the naval strength of the world keeps on increasing in step with the various peace treaties signed. The civilized world can't possibly escape going bankrupt.

Members of a gambling syndicate driven out of Toronto by the police are quoted as saying that it was the first city on the American continent they had not been able to "fix." A little experimentation probably will lead them to the conclusion that all Canadian cities are much the same as Toronto. The Canadian police are not politically controlled.

A brewery with a daily capacity of 100 barrels and 50,000 gallons of beer and 150, 000 gallons of mash found therein were seized up in Chicago, Thursday, by dry agents, who claim that it belongs to the Capone liquor syndicate. That's hardly showing consideration for the feelings of Chicago's best-known citizen.

A citizen of Minneapolis shot and killed the proprietor of a cafe up there for selling him bad booze. Were all the sellers of poor liquor to be treated that way there wouldn't be half enough fellows to go around.

Professor Haldet, of Merdon observatory, told the French Academy of Sciences that the recently-leaved comet was headed directly for the earth and would have hit us had not something intervened. It was only 6,000,000 miles away and caused it to recede into space. Maybe it was the hot air let off by the sport writers in anticipation of Thursday night's fight.

Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale, has attacked Dwight H. Morrow, candidate for senator in New Jersey, "charging" that the brewers and the millionaire backers of Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 campaign are behind his candidacy. In the light of the professor's opposition, it's hard to see how the ambassador can fall of election in New Jersey.

The authorities of the University of Minnesota finally relented and permitted Miss Mary Humphrey to graduate, despite the fact that she failed to meet the requirement that a co-ed, to graduate, must be able to swim 100 feet. Boat and dive from the side of the college's pool. Maybe they discovered that she was one of the rarely exceptional college girls who can make good coffee, broil a steak just right and prepare a palatable meal.

A French cable reports one of the Dolli-sisters winning $50,000 in one night's sitting in the La Touquet casino. Well, this is the season when the European gambling places put out their come-on stuff and a lot of Americans fall for it just as they do for the personal endorsement ads in the magazines.

There will be nothing more up-to-date on the Atlantic than the $2,500-ton liner, Empress of Britain, launched this week for the Southampton-Cherbourg-Quebec run, but her cost will be $15,000,000, possibly a saving of from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 being affected by the Canadian Pacific people by being content with a speed of twenty-four knots as compared with the practically twenty-eight knots of the new North Atlantic greyhounds, built and building. From which it may be gleaned that every knot of speed above twenty-four costs a fortune.

OLD GLORY'S DAY.

BOLTERS, SOUTH AND NORTH.
Furnifold M. Simmons, dean of the senate, loses his job, as punishment for his bolt of the Democratic party's nominee for president two years ago. And the odds are pretty well against that other Democratic bolter, Tom Heflin, denied a place on Alabama's primary ballot, but running somewhat hopelessly as an independent.

All of which seems to us right and proper. A citizen, a politician, even a senator, has a perfect right to bolt his party's ticket, or his party's platform. But, so doing, he has no business coming right back at the very next election and asking the bolter party to nominate him for office.
Otherwise, party government would soon come to mean less than it means now under the direct primary system.

Holding a party ticket by a man holding office under the aegis of the deserted party, is nothing new.
It has been going on since the birth of parties, but the ethical bolter makes his desertion permanent, as did Senator Teller and the other Silver Republicans in 1890, and as did former Congressman Victor Minnec after 1912. Or if a closer-home example is needed, take Judge Frank M.
Nye's refusal to seek Republican renomination as congressman in 1911, after his bolt of the Taft ticket in 1912.

The Republican party would not nominate Hoosever in 1910, much as it needed a winner, because he had bolted the party ticket in 1912. The Democratic party, in North Carolina and Alabama, is taking a like course.

But how about the Republican senators who bolted their party ticket two years ago? Since for the southern goons should be named for the northern gander. If it is right and proper for democrats of North Carolina and Alabama to punish Simmons and Heflin for bolting south in 1928, is it not also right and proper for the Republicans of Wisconsin and Nebraska to punish Haine and Norris for bolting Hoosever in 1928?

A SPLIT IN THE SHIPPING BOARD.

From the very first day it began to function the shipping board has been unfortunate. Its original membership contained only one practical shipping man, and he quickly wearied of his position and resigned. Usually its policies have been contradictory and capricious. Mr. T. V. O'Connor, the present chairman, resigned several months ago, but he has been retaining his post pending the appointment of a successor. The President has just reappointed Mr. Plummer. Meanwhile there is a serious split in the board over the disposition of two lines. It has been said that the President is somewhat annoyed by the delay this has entailed.

After more or less squabbling the board has transferred to private interests the major portion of its fleet. But the sale of the America Diamond and American-France lines still is held up. The United States Lines made the largest bid, but the present operators feel that they are entitled to consideration. This is the view of Messrs.
O'Connor and Plummer; the rest of the board are ready to turn the ships over to the owners of the Leviathan. The argument of the United States Lines appears to be that it should not be asked to meet dangerous American competition in the North Atlantic trade. Whether this is a sufficient reason for rejecting the lower bid in the circumstances is the substance of the present dispute.

It is clear that a decision can not be indefinitely delayed. Both bidders may reasonably ask that the matter be settled one way or the other. But it apparently will not be without intervention from the White House.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dinner Stories.

"Who are the people waiting to see me?" asked Senator Sorghum. "Are they taxpayers?"
"No," answered the announcer. "They are a bunch of constituents who say you have so mismanaged their affairs that they can't even afford to pay their taxes."

Convict—"It's much more pleasant working in prison than outside."

"More pleasant? How so?"
"Because you're not always being threatened with dismissal."

MacIntosh was a farmer.

"Here, Gene," he said, one day, "gang run and give the coos a cabbage each, but min' ye give the biggest to the coo that gives the milst milk."

The boy departed on his chore. On his return MacIntosh asked if he had done as he was told.

"Aye, mairster," he replied. "I gied 'em a cabbage each, and hung the biggest een on the anna handie."

A Courageous Mind.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
As one grows older, the body is subject to great changes. Unfortunately, we are not so strongly resistant to disease.

"Parkinson's disease," so called, attacks people of advanced age. It rarely attacks a young person. Men are more liable to have it than women.

The disease was first described by Dr. Parkinson, hence its name. The doctors call it "paralysis agitans," and the common name for it is "shaking palsy." Recently I have been asked to repeat some things I have said about this ailment.

It may begin abruptly and suddenly in various muscles, or in one or more of the limbs. On the other hand it may develop slowly and progress very gradually for two or three years.

There is pain moving about, and a trembling or tremor is noticed now in the arm, and again in the leg. It is apt to be located on one side of the body.

A peculiar factor in the disease is known as "Parkinson's Mask." This comes early in the disease. The eyebrows are drawn up all the time, the lips move slightly and slowly in speaking, and the face looks almost expressionless. It is as if the features had been cast into a motionless mask.

There is weakness of the muscles, and general stiffness is observed. Muscular movements are made slowly and deliberately. Short, hurried steps are characteristic.

For years the trembling or palsy may be in one leg, or in one or both of the arms. The hands are affected. The fingers move all at once, unusually, and the thumb oscillates toward them, suggesting the holding of a pen. This movement is brought on by excitement or intense emotion, and it may continue while the other muscles are at rest. During sleep the movement ceases.

The disease is usually brought on by anxiety, exposure to wet or cold, worry, injury involving important nerves, or infectious fevers. It is often associated with rheumatism.

Fortunately the mind is not disturbed. The mental processes are just as good as ever. One hasn't much pain, but it is natural to worry about the condition.

The cultivation of a philosophical mind, and patience with the annoyance of the trembling and the disturbed gait will help much in keeping physically well otherwise. There will be periods when there seems to be improvement. Unfortunately there is little to be done to relieve the symptoms.

We are hopeful that the glandular extracts may prove efficacious in this disease. Some progress is being made in this direction. What is known as the "parathyroid extract" has been used with benefit.

The important thing is to have the patient live as near the normal life as possible. It is important that he should get the fresh air, sunlight, simple foods, and as much systematic exercise as can be taken without undue fatigue. In this way he should live out his normal expectancy.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Tuesday, June 14.

J. A. Ireton opened a new feed barn on Silver street.

Doll Hart returned to his home in Ashland following a disappearance of five weeks, having suffered a loss of knowledge of his whereabouts, held due to illness, until he came to realization of his identity in Allegheny, Pennsylvania.

The local Law and Order league was reorganized with Rev. S. C. Bates as its president.

A number of valuable hogs were slaughtered and the meat carried away from the J. B. Guthery farm west of the city.
Drops of blood showed the direction taken by the thieves, but they escaped detection.

Less than two weeks after they had moved in, the C. H. Parker family vacated the "haunted" house of Louis Goldberg on Scranton avenue. The members of the family laughed at the add run by Goldberg.
"For Rent: $10 with Ghost; $5 without Ghost"—but the "Ghost" proved too much for them.

Dumlich was effective and Goulait was not, with the result that Lancaster won from Marion, ten to three.

Earth Magnetism.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.
From the initial chapter in the great story of cosmic evolution, the material bodies have been obeying certain laws and moving in accordance with certain forces. The operation of these laws, everything we have learned teaches us, is immutable. The laws do not change; it is we who change in response to their operation.

One of the great subjects for scientific study, about which we know comparatively little, is terrestrial magnetism. Connected closely with that is the subject of terrestrial electricity. According to a pamphlet recently issued by the Carnegie Institution:

There exists about the earth a field of magnetic force of which the origin is still unknown. The distributions and variations of this field present characteristics which are related not only to the magnetic and electric phenomena of the earth and its atmosphere, but also to solar and cosmic phenomena. The strength and direction of the earth's magnetism in the horizontal and vertical planes are referred to as the magnetic "elements," and these vary from place to place.

An exact knowledge of the way in which they vary is demanded for the efficient use of the compass in maritime and aerial navigation; and a study of irregularities of distribution is one of the few means we possess for investigating the properties of subterranean masses. However, the values of the magnetic elements obtained at any point are constant, but undergo periodical and irregular variations.

If there were only one type of variation for the pointing of the compass needle the difficulties would not be so great. But there are three different types of variation.

First, there is a diurnal variation in the pointing. The needle shifts gradually back and forth in the course of twenty-four hours.
This variation has been found to be greatest in summer and least in winter. The natural and inevitable inference is that the diurnal variation is an effect, direct or indirect, of the heat of the sun.

Second, there is a shifting of the needle, back and forth, in a period of something more than eleven years. This phenomenon is intimately connected with the periodicity of the spots on the sun.

Third, there is a long-period or secular change in the pointing of the needle. In the year 1570, at Greenwich, England, the magnetic needle pointed eleven degrees east of north. Ninety years later it pointed due north. In 1800 it pointed twenty-four degrees west of north. Since 1800 the swing of the needle has been easterly, so that now at Greenwich, the average reading is about fourteen degrees west of north.

Certain other fluctuations of the needle give us important information, derivable from no other source. For instance, fluctuations of the needle which are sudden and unexpected may indicate "magnetic storms," —some sort of effect of cosmic disturbances on the sun. At such times, if the "magnetic storm" is intense, there occur auroral disturbances, the passage of powerful electric currents of cosmic origin by telegraph and telephone lines, which put them out of commission for hours at a time, and the occurrence of spots, large, active or numerous, on the sun.

Second, sudden fluctuations of the needle may be due to the near presence of magnetic materials in the earth. Dr. W. W. Campbell reports an experience on a shipboard approach of the harbor of Broome, on the northwest coast of Australia, when the ship's compass needle, due to the presence of a great subterranean mass of metallic iron ore, varied its pointing through seventy degrees and back again in the course of not more than three or four minutes of time.—Copyright,

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MONTYRE.

New York, June 14—New York for a brief period after the war threatened to arise as London as a male fashion center, but lately there has been a marked decadence in dandyism. Mayor Walker ballooned temporary interest in fancy dressing that started with the passing of James Huxner, but it was very brief.

Men are still buying expensive clothes, but they express mauve motifs instead of sartorial surprises. The racks are hung with plain, drab colors. A fancy vest no longer arouses even a race track tout, and a pearl gray derby has not been sighted since Raymond Hitchcock's passing.

The blue serge suit which was almost outmoded by the more fashionable grays, browns and even deep purples has again—along with plain black—become the reigning set of threads. Striped shirts and collars to match, the legacy of a detestable fashion period, have given away to single and extremely sedate single tones.

New York at the moment—12:01 a. m. daylight saving—hasn't an outstanding dandy—a dandy that might be mentioned along with Kyle Hellow, John Brew, Robert Hilliard or the famed elegant, E. Barry Wall, with his 300 suits and 500 hats. There are gaudy dressers, but no aristocratic dandies.

Many style experts blame the apathy to the sudden interest of gignols, bootleggers, racketeers and gamblers in dandyism. When the East Side gorilla moved out of his cellar dive to the rinside table of Broadway supper clubs wearing a Tuxedo, something happened.

The well-dressed man began to lose interest in flamboyant habiliments. And not even the immaculate Grover Whalen with his dove-colored spats, silk hat and lapsi nosegay could provide a proper antidote.
Metropolitan swiftness is on pronounced strike.

In other days a foppish dandy, such as Oscar Wilde, was a gentleman of parts—a philosopher. Today he is more than likely to talk out of the side of his mouth, prison fashion. A cynic once suggested that to see smart New York dressers visit the moral police line-up of crooks.

A gloomy gentleman dropped into a chop-house the other midnight and purposely un-set a salt shaker, cracked a mirror with his elbow and broke a whisky at a table with him. "I'm already licked," he said, "and I've always wanted to raze a few superstitions."

Writers who grow discouraged when first efforts fail to land may be encouraged by the experience of the famous novelist, Joseph Hergesheimer. He wrote six years before publishing a word. Somerset Maugham finished four novels before marketing a line.

Now that the wound has healed, there is no denying Fred Stone was disconsolate over the reception of his seasonal offering called "Ripples." It lasted seven weeks on Broadway. Stage doctors declared if Stone had bowed to the popular demand for off-color lines and risque situations he would not have been forced to go on tour. "If I have to report to snuff," he said, "I will give up great paint."

Stone took his show to Boston and has had one of the most successful runs that city ever knew.

Stone happens to be financially secure.

David Warfield has long been reputed the richest American actor. Out of the profits of "The Mule Master," he invested in uptown real estate which he has bought and rebought in value. And is still reeling.

Frequently New Yorkers see her in one of those up-the-air autos of the vintage of '18. The chauffeur uniform is moth-eaten and she sits with Queen Mary in dress in the back seat, gazes not at, but through, the crowds. She is one of the richest women in town. And the stingiest.

A fell for a new-fangled face massage is a barber shop the other morning and was repeatedly told to relax which did. The charge was five dollars. It was upon receiving the check that I gave up relaxing and grew as taut as a fiddle string.—Copyright, Zantha Hatlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hatlich, and Royce V. Hunk, at Central Christian church.

Miss Hatlich is a past president of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority and Mr. Hunk is a past national treasurer of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. Both have taken part in the social affairs of their circle of friends.

Harry Hatlich gave his daughter in marriage. She was charming in a wedding gown of white lace and net, with which she wore a halo effect veil. The dress was fashioned with a long bodice of lace, marked at the natural waist with a band of white satin ribbon. The skirt was layered upon a layer of filmy net, extending to the floor in an even hemline. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms which also formed a wreath around the edge of the veil framing her hair. She wore white lace mits and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lily of the valley and yuccaphylla. Her crystal necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Mildred Hollandshead, her maid of honor, was in flowered rose tulle. Miss Eleanor Williams and Mrs. Paul Piersol, her bridesmaids, and Miss Hollandshead all wore frocks of queen old-fashioned lines.

The bridegroom wore a tuxedo of line brand with flowers trimming the undergarment of the upturned brim on the side. All of the bride's attendants wore eggshell lace mits and carried old-fashioned bouquets of garden flowers tied with green and yellow tulle. Miss Williams was in yellow organdie and Mrs. Piersol was in green organdie. Both were made with tulle waists and long full skirts and with puff sleeves, and were marked at the waist with wide swathes of black velvet. Her large bouquet of bride's roses, lily of the valley and yuccaphylla was a gift of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding a breakfast was served at the bride's home, 505 East Center st. Members of the immediate bride party were seated at a table decorated with a heart shaped cake decorated in the bride's colors of green and yellow and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Two tapered tins with tulle were also a part of the centerpiece. The smaller tables were centered with flowers and decorated in green and yellow.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunk left on a 10-day wedding trip through the east and to New York City. Mr. Hunk wore a tuxedo blue suit with a tulle-trimmed collar and cuffs. With this he wore a blue bow tie, blue-tipped cuffs, eggshell colored gloves and shoes.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Hunk will be at home at 517 Sheridan road. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hunk have been employed as buyers and department managers, Kleinfelder Bros. Party Hymns.

Five tables were filled for bridge, honors going to Mrs. Charles Rinkler and Mrs. S. H. Wilson.

Mrs. S. T. Doyle, Mrs. Raymond Doyle, Mrs. Lowell Doyle, Mrs. O. W. Hipsher and Mrs. Jay Ulich of Caladonia were out-of-town guests.

Members of LeLundi club entertained at a five course dinner Thursday evening at the Elms in West-inton for Mrs. Robinson and presented her with a gift of silver.

Lewis and Miss Ruth Louise Henderson were hostesses at a breakfast and bridge yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Lewis home at 361 Windsor street, for Mrs. Harold Pacher who left at noon today with Mr. Pacher to spend the summer in Bay City, Mich. Mrs. Pacher, formerly Miss Virginia Smith before her wedding, March 1, has been complimented with several affairs since she announced her wedding last Saturday night at a party given by her mother, Mrs. C. G. Smith of South Prospect street.

Pink and green, Mrs. Pacher's colors, were used in decorating the tables. A large table and three smaller tables seated the 16 guests. Mrs. A. F. Lincoff and Mrs. H. K. Henderson assisted their daughters in

THE Marry- Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

ALL ALONE!

THE greatest terror that Summer holds for the average man is not the prospect that his wife is going to desert him, but the appalling thought that his Personal Stenographer is going to LEAVE him, for two whole weeks!

A man can somehow survive the absence of his wife, for a few weeks, but the absence of his faithful stenographer causes him a real heartache.

For, while his wife's return is an assured fact, there is always the possibility that his "old girl" may meet somebody who will "take her out of it all" and she may never come back!

Every man leans as heavily upon his stenographer as she will permit him to; but, he never realizes how dependent he has become, until she walks out, some morning, and he finds himself trying to pour dictation into the unsympathetic ear of a strange substitute who doesn't "understand" him.

No longer may he turn over to "Little Faithful" a basketful of unanswered correspondence, to be "taken care of in her own clever way."

No longer may he mutter and murmur behind a big cigar in the blissful certainty that his dictation will be translated into intelligible English.

No longer may he check out for lunch, with a clear conscience and a carefree mind, knowing that all will be well.

No longer may he talk in technical terms and abbreviations, and fling around the names of familiar firms in careless assurance.

No longer may he close down his desk at four p. m., and speed away.

65 Members at Class Meeting As Season Ends

A DELIGHTFUL party to close the season of the Anna T. Waters class of First Presbyterian church, was the affair for 65 girls yesterday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Isaly in Vernon Heights.

A light supper was served at small tables arranged throughout the rooms of the lower floor. The home was beautifully decorated with baskets of larkspur in bright shades.

Assisting Mrs. Isaly as hostesses were Mrs. J. C. Wylie, Mrs. D. Shelton, Mrs. Charles Waters, Mrs. Dale Lambert, Mrs. L. C. Weaver, Mrs. Martin Verburg, Mrs. Louise Lower and Miss Mary B. Pleasant.

The women enjoyed a program of music following the supper. The class will reopen its season of meetings the second Friday in September.

to the golf links, leaving his letters to be signed FOR him, without a quail or tremor.

He is ALL ALONE, in a great city, with no "Steno" to guide him, guard him, think for him, protect him, watch over him or pamper him!

A wife's absence means merely a disordered house and a round of unappetizing restaurants—but a stenographer's absence is a real TRAGEDY!

A wife's vacation may make a man realize his loneliness—but his stenographer's vacation brings him face to face with his HELPLESSNESS.

A wife's absence may drive a man to indolence or flirtation—but his stenographer's absence drives him to desperation!

For his "Steno" is the only woman who really "understands" him!

KAPPAS RUN WILD IN LAST INNING TO BEAT PYTHIANS, 11-4

Shovel and Grocers Stay in Second Place Tie with Easy Victories.

BY BOB ELLIOTT

All favorites came through with flying colors in last night's games of the Commercial League. The league leading Kappas took their fourth straight by staying an eight run rally in the seventh to trim the K. of P. nine to four. Bank, Zuppan and Bob Peadon had staged a tight hurling duel until the seventh, the score standing 1 all at the end of the sixth frame. Shovel and Excavator stayed in a deadlock for second place by trimming the Star and the Excavator nine respectively. Prospect won a hitting fray from Company B, 11 to 7.

The Kappas' winning spree in the last inning was one of the wildest in league history here. Hits, errors, bases on balls and everything else in the baseball category. Everybody on the winning team with the exception of G. Hinkley and Willie Baldauf crashed through with a score in the seventh. The winners had collected six hits off Peadon in the first six innings and then in one big frame got just that much more. The losers could get to Bank and Zuppan for only three during the entire game, two of these coming in the seventh when the Pythians scored three of their four runs.

Grocers Still Win
The grocers kept up their amazing pace by scoring four times in both the fourth and fifth innings to triumph over the Excavator nine, 9 to 2. Somerlot gave up seven bingles but kept them scattered in good shape. The winners solved Gilmore for 13 wallpops, eight of these coming in the grocer's big inning. Somerlot and Walters were the offensive stars with two runs apiece. Laffer and Gilmore brought in the beer's two tallies in the fifth.

The Shovel ran wild in the final three frames to score ten runs and walloped the Star team, 14 to 1. Higgins opened with a two run rally in the first, two more in the third, two in the fifth, five in the sixth and three more in the seventh. The losers registered in the second for one score and Hinkley's two-base error on Eddie Fox's smash in the seventh with two on scored the other three. The news papermen committed ten bobbles behind a pretty fair brand of hurling.

SPORT RAMBLINGS

FOR the first time in many moons all the teams we picked to win came through for us. However, we couldn't hardly miss last evening with all the first division teams of the Commercial League playing the four lower teams. The Kappas came through in great shape, Shovel looked fair, the grocers are still hitting hard and Prospect is just about a fourth place team. The Kappas should be a easy winner of the Friday night loop but will hardly cope with the pennant winner in the first church loop.

We hope to see a good crowd out at Lincoln Park tomorrow afternoon for the Marion Shovel-Columbus all pros tilt. The two teams line up fairly even and the fans should witness one of the best Sunday ball games in many weeks. The locals have the hardest hitting club that has represented this city in the past four years and will give any pitcher plenty of trouble. They deserve better crowds and it's our opinion that diamond fans here are beginning to wake up to the fact that the Shovel company has put one sweet ball club right in our midst.

NEXT week will be the crucial five days for most of the recreation teams who think they have a chance for their respective league championships. Christian and Wesley play Monday night in the feature tilt and a loss for either team will eliminate it from further pennant hopes. Tuesday will see the last game of the week when John Clark's Lipworth No. 1 team, city champions tackle their perennial rivals—Galaxy at Lincoln park. The Shovel-Higher game Thursday and the Grove-U-Wel Shovel game Friday conclude the week's feature tilts.

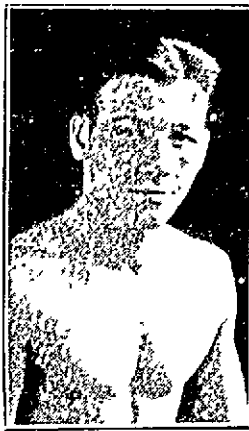

Prospect walloped Company B, 11 to 7 in a game that meant exactly nothing at all. It was featured by the highest total of runs the soldiers have gathered at one time this season. The scores by innings: Kappas 001 000 8—11
K. of P. 001 000 2—4
Bank, Zuppan and G. Hinkley; R. Peadon and G. Peadon

Excavator 000 020 0—2

LIGHTWEIGHTS LINED UP FOR MAIN-GO OF SHOW HERE, JUNE 26

Twenty-Eight Rounds on Next Steam Shovel Card Week from Thursday.

Fight fans of this vicinity will have an opportunity to witness two of the best boys in the 135-149 pound class in Ohio in action when the Marion Steam Shovel Co. presents K. O. Terry and Jesse McMurry in the 10 round main event of its next show scheduled for Thursday night, June 26 at the Shovel gymnasium.

Neither of these boys have ever displayed their wares in this city but have highly impressive records with possibly McMurry, who hails from Cincinnati having a bit the edge. The ring magazine, a monthly fight publication lists the Cincinnati Irishman as the leading lightweight in Ohio for last month. George Barber of Portsmouth will fight the eight round semi final but no opponent has been found for him as yet. Officials of the Shovel company are dickering with Williams, a local lightweight for this bout.

In his varied career McMurry has handed defeat to such fighters as Jackie Dugan, Howard Mitchell, Homer Homan, Tate Langford, Syd Conn, Canadian lightweight champ, Jimmy Sanguine, Otto Anderson, and many others of like caliber. Terry has not had near the experience but according to his record is certainly catching on fast. He has 21 bingles and 21 victories to his credit so far. Terry doesn't go in so much for

GOSLIN TRADED TO ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, June 11—Leon "Goose" Goslin, hard hitting outfielder of the Washington Senators has been traded to the St. Louis Browns for Heinie Manush, outfielder and "General" Alvin Crowder, a pitcher, according to Bill Freil, Browns' business manager, the deal was a straight player trade with no cash involved.
The trade was engineered via the telephone last night by the presidents of both clubs, Phil Ball of the Browns and Clarke Griffith of Washington.
Goslin will appear in a Browns uniform today and Manush in the Senators' outfit as the two teams open a four game series here today. It will be Washington's first appearance at Sportsman's Park this season.

Athletics in particular, prosper. With a championship brand of pitching and a murderous attack, the Indians yesterday rolled up their seventh straight victory and their third over the champions to go into

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Bill Walker, Giants—Won eighth game of season, beating Pirates, 7-2, allowing only six hits.
Rabbit Maranville, Braves—His single in 10th put Webb in position to score run that beat Cards.
Ad Liska, Senators—Beat White Sox, 6-2, with four-hit pitching performance.
Gabby Hartnett, Cubs—Hit two homers vs. Cubs best Phillies, 7-5.
Rip Collins, Browns—Held Red Sox to four hits in 11 innings and best them, 1-0.

Jimmy Thomson, pro at the Colorado Springs Broadmoor club, drove 300 yards in the face of a strong wind.

The Brooklyn Robins the lead by four points. As if to make their advance into the leadership even more impressive, the Indians downed the champions 15 to 2 as Wesley Ferrell turned in his tenth victory of the season. George Walberg, usually the nemesis of the Cleveland batters, was a puzzle and before the game was over he had been driven to the showers and Liska had called to his rescue.

The Senators took the White Sox into camp 6 to 2 when Ad Liska held Chicago to four hits. The victory left the Senators only a half game out of second place.

At St. Louis Rip Collins and Milton Gaston staged an old fashioned hurling duel as the Browns defeated the Red Sox 1 to 0 in 11 innings. A single by Ralph Kress broke up the contest. Collins held the Sox to four hits while Gaston let the Browns down with seven safe blows.

In contrast Detroit and the New York Yankees put on a modern game of baseball—slugging the ball to every corner of the field as the Yankees won 10 to 9. A total of 27 hits were collected by both teams. Bucky Harris sent Whitehill, Page and Sullivan to the mound but they were as ineffective as Pappas, Gomez and Sherid. In the sixth inning Sammy Byrd hit the ball out of the park with two on base to give the Yanks a safe lead.
